FREESPIRA®

Looking to enhance your clinical practice?

A revolutionary solution for panic attacks is now available

Freespira is a provider-authorized, FDA-cleared, pharma-free intervention for panic performed at home over 4-weeks. It is simple to use and easily integrated into existing treatment protocols. Freespira directly addresses hyperventilation, the key physiological component of panic, by guiding the client to normalize their exhaled CO_2 level and stabilize their respiration rate. Over the 4-week course of treatment, this changes body chemistry, eliminating or reducing the symptoms of panic, including panic attacks.

CLINICAL RESULTS

Randomized clinical trials of Panic Disorder (PD) patients demonstrated that treatment is effective, safe and long-lasting. Results from recent clinical trials and commercial use continue to demonstrate impressive results with 86% compliance and >90% patient satisfaction. Post-treatment, more than 50% of subjects were in remission (no longer met criteria for PD).
