Dear Chairman Pallone, Ranking Member Walden, Chairwoman Eshoo, and Ranking Member Burgess:

On behalf of the undersigned mental health and substance use disorder organizations, we write in support of Rep. Paul Tonko's the COVID-19 Mental Health Research Act (H.R. 6645). H.R. 6645 directs the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS), acting through the Director of the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH), to conduct or support research on the mental health consequences of SARS-CoV-2 or COVID-19. Appropriately responding to the mental health challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic is of the utmost importance, and we are thankful that action is being proposed to carry out and support research on this issue.

People living with mental health conditions are experiencing worsening symptoms and individuals may develop new mental health problems in response to fear, self-isolation, and physical distancing stemming from the national pandemic. Preliminary evidence suggests that symptoms of anxiety and depression and self-reported stress are common psychological reactions to the COVID-19 pandemic.¹ However, researchers also assert that available literature has only emerged from a handful of the affected countries, and there exists a need for more representative research from other affected countries, especially for vulnerable populations.²

Despite suggestions that mental health crises and suicide rates will worsen, this is not inevitable.³ By prioritizing research on our nation's mental health, we can address previous and present concerns and effectively mitigate future needs beyond the crisis at hand. For this reason, we urge you to continue to bring H.R. 6645 forward for consideration until it is passed into law.

Sincerely,
