

Wiley invites qualified individuals to apply for the position of Editor-in-Chief of Depression & Anxiety

Depression and Anxiety, the official journal of the Anxiety and Depression Association of America (ADAA), welcomes original research and systematic review articles covering neurobiology (genetics and neuroimaging), epidemiology, experimental psychopathology, and treatment (psychotherapeutic, neuromodulation, and pharmacologic) aspects of mood and anxiety disorders and related phenomena in humans. A priority is placed on papers focusing on treatment, as well as those providing cutting-edge reviews of key areas and issues, to enhance the clinical evaluation and care of individuals struggling with the effects of these disorders. All submissions are peer-reviewed; there is no handling or publishing fee.

The successful candidate for the position of Editor-in-Chief will be recognized internationally for their achievements in this area and have an excellent track record of publications and presentations at conferences. The candidate will also have an extensive international network of contacts, so that the profile of the Journal can continue to be developed. The ideal candidate will be skilled in diplomacy, networking, and written and verbal communication.

The duties of the EIC include:

- Managing the day-to-day operations of the Journal, especially the peer-review process, with support from a journal administrator provided by the Publisher
- Recruiting, selecting, and working with Associate Editors and Editorial Board Members, and periodically refresh/diversify board members, expanding disciplines, reach and representation
- Maintaining, developing, and refining Journal Vision, Scope, and Strategic direction for subject relevance and currency
- Facilitating thorough, fair, and fast peer review through the delegation of Associate Editors, the invitation of peer reviewers, and the synthesis of peer review reports into a manuscript decision
- Pro-actively encouraging submissions from authors and serving as an ambassador of the Journal through networking, traveling, and advocating on behalf of the Journal and ADAA within the community
- Commissioning articles and special issues with a focus on growth and quality of content
- Collaborating with the Publisher and ADAA to explore and implement strategic new initiatives, policies, and subject areas to enhance Journal quality and growth

- Maintaining regular communication with the Publisher to discuss the Journal's performance, operations, and management of the Associate Editors
- Collaborating with the ADAA Board and staff to enhance the marketing and visibility of the Journal and to ensure engagement of ADAA membership with the Journal
- Participating in ADAA Board meetings, with the expectation that the Editor provides a formal update to the Board twice a year--fall and spring
- Managing the Editorial Board, including inviting and retiring members and monitoring performance
- Host editorial team and editorial board meetings, preparing and disseminating editorial team and board reports
- Maintaining regular communication with the Associate Editors and the Editorial Board to keep them engaged and energized

The EIC shall have the power to delegate specific responsibilities to Associate Editors and the Editorial Board. Ideally, to keep the flow of papers maintained and the decision times to a minimum, the successful candidate should plan to spend a little time on the Journal each day. The EIC will be expected to start on July 1, 2022.

In partnership with Wiley, the Executive Committee of the Anxiety and Depression Association of America is committed to support and assist in the selection of the new EIC. Applicants should send a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a short assessment of the strengths and weaknesses of Depression & Anxiety and your vision for how you would like to see it develop in the future.

Please send all application materials by May 10th, 2022 to: Christina Tuballes, Journal Publishing Manager, at ctuballes@wiley.com and Susan Gurley, Executive Director, Anxiety and Depression Association of America – sgurley@adaa.org