Call for Scientific Proposals

ADAA welcomes all individuals to submit a scientific proposal for the 2023 ADAA Conference.

ADAA Conference Submission Types and Descriptions

Symposium: An organized set of presentations around a specific topic. There should be an overall symposia title and unique titles for the abstract from each presenter. Priority is given to symposia that are innovative, multidisciplinary, and involve clinicians and researchers, basic and clinical researchers, or present new research. Sessions will be 90 minutes.

Workshop: Educational session that provides hands-on, in-depth clinical training. A workshop may include a case presentation for a particular skill or treatment area. Workshops should include involvement of the audience. Workshops can also be submitted on topics related to practice, research, and career development such as promoting your practice, using social media for recruiting participants for studies, or writing a successful grant. Sessions will be 60 minutes.

Roundtable: Highly interactive sessions with up to five experts (including chair) on a focused topic, issue, theme or question in research or practice. Roundtables may include short statements by the five experts during which presenters outline approaches to the same question but do not make formal presentations. Sessions will be 60 minutes.

Therapeutics Pipeline (new in 2023!): Therapeutics Pipeline reports will be 10-minute presentations with the opportunity to be presented as a poster presentation. A Therapeutics Pipeline submission should include any new compound or intervention that had not been previously presented. The goal is to generate enthusiasm for the many novel therapies under exploration.

Poster Presentations: Individual presentation in a poster format sharing new research findings on or innovative clinical techniques for topics including anxiety, depression, and co-occurring disorders. Submissions should include title and abstract. Format: Background, Methods, Results and Conclusion - each section allows for 3000 characters (including spaces). Preliminary analysis of new data must be included in abstract. Poster presenters must register for the conference if their poster is accepted. Poster presenter must be on-site for poster session(s) to have their poster displayed.

Poster Spotlight (new in 2023!): A select number of individual presentations chosen from the top scoring posters submitted to the conference. These are 10-minute oral presentations during the conference with 5 minutes Q&A from the audience. Early Career Researchers are strongly encouraged to submit a poster and must be willing to present their poster abstract as a Poster Spotlight. Anyone submitting a poster abstract will have the opportunity to have the abstract reviewed for this oral presentation.
